

Brian McDonald
District Director, Minnesota District Office
U.S. Small Business Administration

Brian McDonald is the District Director for the U.S. Small Business Administration's Minnesota District Office. Under his leadership, McDonald's team facilitates SBA-backed loans, advocates and trains small businesses for federal government contracting opportunities, and works to improve entrepreneurial development to strengthen business growth across all 87 Minnesota counties.

Before joining the Minnesota District Office, Brian worked in Washington, D.C. for the U.S. SBA Headquarters Office of Entrepreneurial Development and for the U.S. Treasury CDFI Fund. Prior to federal service Brian worked in private banking.

Originally from Upstate N.Y., Brian went to Syracuse University for undergrad and Georgetown University for his Master's degree, and resides in Minneapolis with his wife and two children.
