

---

Robert Bringgold

National Director of Transportation, Risk Control
Travelers

---

Robert Bringgold is the National Director of Transportation for the Travelers Risk Control organization. He began his Risk Control career in 1982 and has experience with varied types of risks in trucking, construction, technology, and commercial industries. Current responsibilities include leading a group of exceptionally talented Risk Control Transportation Specialists that conduct risk assessments and service client needs. He is responsible for work assignments, client service delivery, staff development, and relationship management.

Bringgold graduated from Minnesota State - Mankato with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration and Construction Management. He has completed advanced training in industrial hygiene, ergonomics, safety management, post injury management, behavioral based safety and exceptional management practices.

Bringgold has received the Associate in Loss Control Management designation and also the designation as an Associate in Risk Management.