

BRAD MCDONALD

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR
TECHHELP IDAHO
MANUFACTURING SPECIALISTS

Brad McDonald joined TechHelp in 2024 bringing over 24 years of distinguished service in the United States Air Force, extensive consulting experience and a pivotal role as Division Administrator at the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare. He brings a wealth of knowledge and leadership to the TechHelp team, excelling in Executive Leadership, Strategic Planning, Operations, and Financial Services. Brad's expertise has proven to be invaluable in driving innovation and effectiveness at TechHelp.

Brad's service in the United States Air Force culminated with his role as Wing Commander (CEO) in the 88th Air Base Wing, where he led over 5,500 members at the Air Force's Center of Innovation, the primary home to the Air Force's major acquisition efforts and program management.

Brad received a B.S. in Mathematics from the United States Air Force Academy and is also a graduate of the UNC Kenan Flagler Business School.